FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

WORLD LABYRINTH DAY 2014

The sixth annual World Labyrinth Day will be held on Saturday May 3, 2014. World Labyrinth Day is an annual global event celebrated each year on the first Saturday in May, sponsored by The Labyrinth Society, an international organization founded in 1998.

The Labyrinth Society invites the world to 'Walk As One at 1' in an attempt to create a wave of peaceful energy moving around the planet. To participate, people are invited to walk a labyrinth at 1:00 p.m. in their local time zone. Many large group events are planned, but no event is too small. Individuals who wish to participate may use a finger labyrinth in the comfort of their home.

In the past, a variety of events were held at over 100 locations worldwide, including the Ellipse in Washington, D.C., public parks, churches, a maximum-security women's prison, and many private labyrinths. Countries joining the celebration include: the United States, Canada, England, the Bahamas, France, Spain, New Zealand, China, South Africa, Australia, and the list grows every year. Last year a lot of excitement was generated by the TLS Facebook events page where there are nearly 2,000 members of the group.

While the origin of the labyrinth is unknown, labyrinths have been found all over the world dating from earliest antiquity. Once popular in the Middle Ages, labyrinths have been experiencing a resurgence in popularity. It has become increasingly common to find labyrinths in schools, prisons, parks, hospitals, spas, churches, prisons, and retreat centers. The World Wide Labyrinth Locator, www.LabyrinthLocator.com, an online database, lists over 4,300 labyrinths around the world.

Labyrinths are thought to enhance right brain activity, and uses include problem solving, conflict resolution, walking meditation, modern day pilgrimage, and stress management. The American Cancer Society states that labyrinths "may be helpful as a complementary method to decrease stress and create a state of relaxation."

Research studies conducted in a variety of settings consistently have shown that walking a labyrinth reduces stress. In fact, over the past few years, this has been the most commonly reported finding related to the so-called 'labyrinth effect,' according to John W. Rhodes, Ph.D. President of the Labyrinth Society and former Chair of The Labyrinth Society Research Committee.

The Labyrinth Society (TLS) is one of the foremost groups responsible for promoting the current international labyrinth movement. The Labyrinth Society is an international organization whose mission is to support all those who create, maintain and use labyrinths, and to serve the global community by providing education, networking, and opportunities to experience transformation. Since its inception, more than 1,500 people have joined TLS. One of The Labyrinth Society's greatest contributions has been helping to establish The World Wide Labyrinth Locator.
